DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-15 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-30 of U.S. Patent No. 6,471,511 in view of Little (5848115). The claims of the '511 patent show the invention except for the use of finite element analysis and scanning. Little teaches that it is known to do analysis on dental models, column 1, lines 39-50 and that it is known to us finite element models. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the claims of the '511 patent to include the use of finite element modeling as shown by Little in order to make use of known techniques in the art for forming digital models. Scanning teeth to input data is well known in the art and an obvious step to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Art Unit: 3732

Claims 1-15 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-69 of U.S. Patent No. 6,682,346. To not obtain the data by scanning and to produce data sets are obvious matters of choice in known steps to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-15 stand rejected under double patenting only.

Drawings

The drawings filed October 22, 2003 have been found to be acceptable by the examiner.
